Higher Postage, Lower Service

The U.S. Postal Service anticipates raising first class letter postage to 13 cents just before Christmas.

The rate increase shouldn't be granted — but probably it will be.

It is obvious that increases granted since WWII have done little to improve service. It has been spent for gadgets that seem to lose mail and increases in salaries that have been tied to doing less work.

Some of the work lifted from the shoulders of postal employees includes the zip code speed up service. Postal patrons agonize over a three-inch thick manual in Post Offices to ascertain zip code numbers. The patron does postal work and the Post Office hires more people.

Those who mail locally in bulk are required to break the mail down into postal routes. Another instance of the public doing postal work and paying more for it.

Just the other day the Big Thinkers who dream up these things decided to do away with those using an advance postage payment account arrangement. In it, firms deposit $10, $25, $50 or whatever sum it feels convenient and the money is held in escrow at the Post Office. Then, when mail with postage-due comes, the amount is deducted from the total and the incoming mail goes directly to the addressee.

Possibly 25 firms, including us, were notified that all accounts showing less than $10 in activity during the past 90 days would be closed out forthwith, and the remaining balance returned in cash.

And with it went one of the few services that saves both postal clerk and patron time and trouble. Instead of the account card being changed to suit the postage due with the letter going directly to the patron, it now works like this:

A pink card is sent to the patron notifying him of postage due mail. The patrons returns to the Post Office and stands in line with the card.

When he reaches the window the clerk searches out the letter from a holding tank in the bowels of the Post Office. The patron then pays the postage due and waits while the clerk puts the postage due stamp on the mail to the right amount.

It's a changeup that makes extra work and inconvenience.

A couple of weeks after this firm was dispossessed of the postage due service, we approached the Post Office with money in hand to reopen a postage due account. We told the official that even a postal inspector — the smartest thinkers in government — couldn't look in his crystal ball and ascertain how many postage due letters this firm would receive in the next 90 days and demanded that our account be reopened.

We got a quizzical look from the postal clerk but we also got the account reopened. A small victory against a big establishment!

The incident set us to wondering. Are these little time-saving niceties the basis for the continuing demand for more money by the Postal Service?

There was an advisory recently released by Washington newsman Henry J. Taylor. He reported that government correspondence amounts to more than a billion letters a year. That comes to 2,793,726 letters a day, 365 days a year — including Sundays and holidays. The cost is nearly $3 billion annually.

It costs the taxpayer $3 a letter.

And that doesn't take into consideration what is done with all those carbons. About 250,000 government employees are chiefly involved with filing papers into cabinets according to Taylor. The cabinets alone cover more than 25 million square feet of floor space.

If just the unnecessary letters were banned in government many service functions of the Postal Service could be restored while, at the same time, the cost of mailing a first-class letter might be cut in half.

Arson Suspected in $50,000 Mayfair Blaze

HEAVY LOSS — Charred and soot-covered grocery items and the skeletal remains of the far wall illustrate the extent of damage to the Mayfair market. Though the fire itself was confined to the rear of the store, no aisle escaped smoke or heat damage.

Arson is "strongly suspected" as the cause of a fire which last Thursday caused $50-$60,000 in structural damage and untold losses to merchandise at the Mayfair Market at 7663 Broadway in Lemon Grove.

Discovery of a second origin of fire several feet from the main origin made it highly unlikely that the blaze was accidental, according to Lemon Grove Fire Chief Fred Dixon.

The sheriff's arson squad joined the fire department last week in the investigation.

Alarm Triggers

The fire began in the rear of the store in a storage and produce area. A heat-sensing device triggered an alarm at 2:34 a.m. Thursday which warned five employees and also signaled the Lemon Grove Fire Station which responded immediately.

Mayfair employee Gerald Pierce ran to an outdoor phone booth to alert the fire department, but the units were already beginning to arrive as he placed his call. The alarm system sends an automatic signal to the fire station.

A few customers in the store — open 24 hours — were escorted out quickly without injury.

Three Lemon Grove units were called into action; two in the rear of the building and one through the front. Chief Dixon called out a standby pumper from the Spring Valley Fire Department. 30 Lemon Grove firemen and four standbys from Spring Valley fought the blaze for over an hour.

By the time flames were brought under control in the wee hours of the morning, the rear storage and office areas of the structure were gutted and the store's merchandise suffered extensive smoke damage.

Department of Health officials supervised the salvaging of merchandise, some of which will be resellable.

Meat in the heavily concealed refrigeration room was undamaged by the fire, but all merchandise on the open shelves were soot covered.

Firemen confined the blaze to the rear of the building but evidence of intense heat could be found at the front of the store.

Mayfair has not indicated whether it plans to rebuild or remodel the store, but Chief Dixon estimates that clean up and remodeling costs could go as high as $200,000. Mayfair's central offices are in Los Angeles.

Loses Shop

A lesser known victim of the fire was Vaughn Lerwill, proprietor of Lerwill's Jewelers, a jewelry and watch repair shop which has been located in the lobby of the supermarket for 22 years.

Although much of the merchandise in the shop was heavily smoke-damaged, he said that customer merchandise in the shop for repair was safely secured in vaults and undamaged. His two safes are built to withstand temperatures of 4500°F for six hours. The Lerwills will do business from their North Park home until they are able to find a new store location.

Customers with watches or jewelry in for repair are urged to contact Lerwill at 283-4047.

The Investigation

Six automatic sprinklers in the rear office and storage section helped curtail the spread of the fire and revealed the evidence of a second origin of fire.

The second origin was located in the top floor storage and office area which is equipped with the sprinklers. One fused, extinguished the second baze and wetted down the area, isolating it from the other heavily damaged portions of the store..

The office and portions of the storage area were equipped with sprinklers, but most of the store was not.

Chief Dixon, who was called from a night's sleep to supervise the firefighters, said that his men had to force entry to the rear area, indicating that an arsonist would have had to enter the store through the front door.

The Yellow Front store adjacent to Mayfair was unharmed.

L.G. BoA Robber Turns Himself In

The man who said he held up the Lemon Grove branch of the Bank of America in August is in custody of the F.B.I., the Lemon Grove office of the San Diego Sheriff said this week.

The man, Frederick Ray Reeves, 29, who the FBI reported to be a heroin addict of Los Angeles with a $150 a day habit, turned himself in to the FBI last week.

Records indicate that there are outstanding warrants for his arrest for burglary.

In Lemon Grove, the robber handed a note to Cecile Niepwicki, 36, a cashier in the BoA at noon on August 15. It said, "I have a gun. Hurry. I want the folder of large bills. Don't press the button."

She handed him $3,065 and he fled.

The bank's description tallied with the FBI I.D. on the man. Six feet tall, red hair, blue eyes, 125 pounds and about 26 years of age. The only thing the local description missed was his age. He is 29.

Tax Protest Deadline Near

September 15 is the last day taxpayers may file protests concerning their 1975-76 assessments.

Persons who pay their taxes through lending agencies should determine the valuati of their properties on the current assessment roll, so that, in the event of disagreement, they may be able to file prior to the deadline date of September 15.

Applicants are urged to personally file their protests in Room 306, County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, San Diego.

Porter D. Cremans, Clerk of the Assessment Appeals Boards, has a trained staff available to assist applicants in filling out the necessary forms and to check the current roll figures.

To help speed the process, applicants should bring their notice of assessment on each parcel of property being protested. The County Assessor's office has representatives available to discuss valuations and answer questions.

The five Assessment Appeals Boards, sitting alernately, will begin hearings on the applications September 29, and continue until all applications for the fiscal year have been heard.

For specific information about assessment appeal, call 236-2333.

Auction Items Sought for 'Grasp November 1st' Dinner Dance

The goal is $100,000 and the start of construction of a new 25-meter swimming pool at Mt. Miguel High School within the year.

Hoping for that amount and deadline are members of a new subcommittee of the Mt. Miguel High School Boosters Club, a non-profit organization whose goal in recent years has been to raise funds for the pool.

The subcommittee was recently christened the "Grasp November 1 Committee," GRASP standing for Grossmont Recreational Activities and Swimming Pool Committee.

November 1 is the scheduled date for a dinner-dance and auction to be held at the Le Baron Hotel in Mission Valley. Three separate auctions will be conducted during the evening in the main banquet hall of the Le Baron Hotel and two other meeting rooms during the dance.

No Minimum Price

Admission will be by voluntary donation with no minimum prices set. The other key to the committee's success will be amount of merchandise collected for the auction.

"We hope to be auctioning off everything from a comic book to a house," said D. D. Miller, ways and means chairman, who announced last week at a promotional luncheon the search for a donor of a house.

The committee earned endorsement from the Grossmont High School District board of trustees last month. The committee anticipates that the event will become an annual function within the district with sponsorship rotating among the nine high schools.

Costs $200,000

$25,000 is in the committee's treasury at present, money raised in past years of fund-raising. Another $50,000 would be sought from the County Board of Education if the balance of the pool costs — estimated at nearly $200,000 — were collected.

The subcommittee is chaired by Spring Valley community worker Mrs. Betty Pengelley and Lemon Grove School Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton.

Other members of the committee are Frank Shughrue, vice president of Southern California First National Bank, treasurer; Mrs. Barbara Jordan, Spring Valley resident, publicity chairman; Dr. Robert Pyle, Mt. Miguel High School principal and Robert Sanders, president of the Mt. Miguel Boosters Club.

The committee has set up headquarters at 7733 Palm ave., Lemon Grove where secretary Mrs. Lynn Hall will coordinate donations and answer questions about the upcoming event. The Grasp November 1 Committee has rented Lemon Grove Post Office box 927. Telephone is 464-2824.

Despite the no-minimum admission policy, committee members are projecting success in their first dinner dance, which Mrs. Pengelley terms a "more palatable way to support public education" than tax levies.

Mt. Miguel is one of four Grossmont district schools which do not have swimming pools. Those that have either on-site or adjacent pools are Helix, Monte Vista, Valhalla, Granite Hills and El Cajon.

Fire Board Elections

L.G. Directors Re-elected 7 Seek Three S.V. Posts

There won't be an election in the Lemon Grove Fire District this year.

There were no candidates to challenge incumbents Jim Dorman and Dr. Robert Burns.

The fire district save about $3,500 as a result. That would be the cost of mounting an election, having ballots printed, paying for polling places and for people to operate them.

Jim Dorman was appointed in 1972 to fill the unexpired term of John Hemmer after Hemmer moved from the district. Dorman is an attorney.

Dr. Burns, veterinarian, was appointed in 1973 to fill the unexpired term of Parker Shumate, who also moved from the district.

Meanwhile, in Spring Valley, three incumbents are seeking re-election. They are Stanley Totten, a veteran of 18 years service; Richard Allen, 15 years and Virgil Steffen, 8 years.

Challenging the trio are Clyde G. Noble, a businessman; S. Lance Fillet, a fireman; Dan G. Marshall, an aircraft examiner and Ronald G. Shafer, a real estate man-builder.

The election will be November 4. Terms will begin the last Friday in December.

The Fire Chief in Lemon Grove is Fred Dixon.

The Chief in Spring Valley is Daryel Stager.

Nets $253 in S.V. Armed Robbery

A black male, 20-25 years of age, pointed a small handgun at the cashier in Builders Emporium Friday about 6:30 p.m. and demanded the contents of the register.

The store is in the Spring Valley Shopping Center on Sweetwater rd.

Florecia Lucero Delacruz, of 8365 Parkbrook, Spring Valley, did as she was told as the robber urged her to hurry up.

The register contained $230 in cash which he dumped in a shopping bag he carried. He also took sporting goods merchandise valued at $23.

The cashier told sheriff's deputies that he was extremely nervous and had a deep, slow voice. He appeared to weigh about 150 pounds.

He committed the robbery with four witnesses looking on. They followed him outside as he fled on foot.

Man Loses Campershell

The camper shell belonging to John G. Harper, 2326 Helix st., Spring Valley was taken from his property while he was away Friday.

The camper, valued at $205, had several identifying marks on it, he told sheriff's deputies.

Man Moves, Loses Guns

Marvin Lee Gaussoin, of 9021 Ildica st., in Spring Valley decided on August 23 that he wanted to move from the place he said he occupied with three other people after an altercation occurred.

He moved to a La Mesa address and on September 3 returned to the Ildica st. address to get the rest of his belongings.

Among missing items were two guns: one a 30.06 Remington and the other a .22 cal. Browning semi-automatic pistol.

He told sheriff's deputies who he thought took his guns but did not indicate that he would prefer charges.

Federally Funded

Free, Reduced Price Lunches New to Lemon Grove Schools

A new federal grant has made possible the funding of a new free and reduced-price meal program for school children in the Lemon Grove district, according to Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton.

Under the new program, children whose family size-income criteria meet the eligibility standards of the program will be entitled to free meals and milk or reduced prices for lunches.

Funding comes from the National School Lunch and Special Milk Programs.

Eligibility

Family sizes and eligibility figures are as follows:

Family Size	Max. Monthly Income
1	$269
2	353
3	438
4	522
5	599

Income ranges for discount rates for school lunches break down as follows:

Family Size	Income Range per Month
1	$270-$377
2	$354-$494
3	$439-$612
4	$523-$731
5	$600-$838
6	$677-$947

In addition, families not meeting the criteria but with other unusual expenses such as unusually high medical expenses, shelter costs in excess of 30 per cent of income, special education expenses on disaster or casualty losses are urged to apply.

Application forms will be sent home to parents. Information provided will be confidential and used only for determining eligibility.

The school principal reviews the applications and determines eligibility. Parents dissatisfied with the ruling may request an appeal to Assistant Superintendent James Justeson at the Lemon Grove Education Center.

In certain cases, foster children are eligible for the benefits.

A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the office of the Superintendent on Lincoln st.

CB Equipment Taken

A citizens' band radio and amplifier were stolen Friday night from the auto of Wesley R. Campbell, of 942 Galopago st., Spring Valley. The equipment is worth $319 and has identification marks.

Sheep Dog Puppy Reported Stolen

A dog-napper is loose in Lemon Grove.

When Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Hershberger returned to their home at 2739 Citronella st. in Lemon Grove early Sunday morning, the first thing they did was to check on their old English Sheepdog and her nine puppies. One puppy, a female, was missing.

Mrs. Hershberger recalled that a woman in her early 20's had responded to an ad earlier and had shown great interest in the pup that was missing. The woman, she said, was accompanied by a man and another woman. The suspect had a scar on her left upper lip.

The pup, she said, is pedigreed and worth $222.

Second Honeymoon is Parents' Anniversary Gift from Children

The four children of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Trebbien presented their parents with a second honeymoon trip to Santa Catalina Island in honor of the couple's 25th wedding anniversary, September 2.

The gift was presented at a buffet dinner at the couple's Lemon Grove home. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Trebbien's mother, Lillian Beardslee of Pacific Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Willison of Westminster.

Mr. and Mrs. Trebbien will take their three day holiday next week.

Needy, Disabled to Get Cost of Living Boost This Month

California's 630,000 needy aged, blind and disabled persons will receive larger checks this month as the second phase of their 1975-76 cost of living increase takes effect.

The increase is the result of an additional $65 million in state money approved by the legislature and the governor in July.

Payments increase $9 to $259 a month for a recipient who is disabled or 65 or older with no outside income. A blind person without income receives a $9 increase to $292.

The higher payments are retroactive to July. Ongoing recipients should receive a separate check sometime this month covering July and August.

The aid program is operated by the Social Security Administration. Persons with questions should call or visit the local social security office; telephone number is 293-5550 for San Diego area residents.

LONG-TIME MEMBER — Mrs. Myrtle "Mickey" Osterberg of Lemon Grove receives a commemorative pin honoring her 25-year membership in Court Teresa of Avila, the Catholic Daughters chapter at St. John of the Cross Catholic Church, from Regent Mrs. Eleanor McCormick. The pin was presented at the chapter meeting last week.

Search Announced for 'Bicentennial Seniors'

"Bicentennial Seniors," a nationwide $250,000 scholarship program for high school seniors who will graduate with the Class of 1976, is being launched this month by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

One national winner will receive a $10,000 scholarship and 102 state winners will receive $1000 grants under the program.

Winners will be selected first locally, then on a statewide level. Two graduating seniors will be chosen in each state and the District of Columbia.

Each of the 102 winners will also receive an all-expense-paid trip to Williamsburg, Virginia, from January 16 through 19 to attend seminars and hear noted speakers discuss educational and social issues.

Students taking part in the "Bicentennial Seniors" competition must demonstrate an understanding of America's past and possible directions for the future and an involvement in the social and community issues faced by America today.

Competition includes the preparation of a minute-long television script to be patterned after the CBS television network's "Bicentennial Minutes," a commentary discussing the significance of the "minute" and a current events exam emphasizing issues and events from the past year.

High school seniors should see their principal for details on how to participate. Applications must be filed by October 6.

MAKES THE GRADE — While exhibiting school bus at College Grove shopping center during last week's Bus Safety Awareness Week, head driver Art Brown was visited by fellow driver Rhonda Galloway of Lemon Grove who announced that she had just passed her CHP bus driver's test. Brown congratulates her.

Art Brown Drives Home Bus Safety

By John Kowalczyk

Art Brown drew his Bus Safety Awareness tour to a close Thursday with a last minute change of plans.

Brown, head bus driver in the Lemon Grove School District, had to find a new location for the all-day awareness visits to neighborhood shopping areas after he learned that Mayfair Market, his scheduled Thursday appearance, had burned down the night before.

The neighborhood stops were part of a county-wide program to boost motorists' awareness of school buses which returned to the streets recently to transport thousands of school children to and from school.

Brown, with the district five years, is a state-licensed instructor of school bus driving technique, having passed a special course and a periodic series of California Highway Patrol exams. He teaches new drivers in the Lemon Grove district as well as in private school classes.

Accident Free

The Lemon Grove school board recently praised him and his nine-member staff for their excellent safety trend.

"Accidents have been minor and sparse during the past five years and last year not one occurred," Brown proclaims proudly.

Much of the credit for the clean record goes to the extentive examinations and training which have become mandatory in the state over the past 5 years, Brown said.

Bus drivers must undergo 20 hours training each year—ten in the classroom and ten behind the wheel. Every two years, they are required to pass a complete medical exam and a written test administered by the Highway Patrol.

"The classes make bus driving a truly professional occupation," said Brown whose life-time credential permits him to teach in the county adult school program.

The accident-free year represents up to 65,000 miles of safe driving in the district. It is even more impressive when one notes that last year buses were also contracted with the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Nutrition Project to transport senior citizens on various outings.

Three men, four women and two substitutes comprise the Lemon Grove bus team.

Journalist Freeman To Teach Extension 'Write to Sell' Class

Don Freeman, TV editor and columnist for the "San Diego Union," teaches a UCSD Extension course titled "Writing to Sell" beginning September 22. The 10-week course is held Monday evenings from 7 to 9.45 p.m. in the Viewing Room at the KGTV studios, Highway 94 and 47th st.

The course will focus on non-fiction writing for magazines. While writing for the broadcast media will not be covered, the course is open to "anyone interested in learning to write the way professionals do," according to Freeman.

He has written for a number of popular magazines including "McCall's," "TV Guide," "Sport" and "The Saturday Evening Post."

"One begins with the initial assumption that writing like most creative functions, cannot be taught. But a teacher can be a coach, urging his students to express themselves clearly with proper emphasis, rhythm and style," Freeman said.

"In the course, we will help students develop a feeling for the methods used by successful writers, and increase their awareness of language."

The course fee is $54.

Competition Opens for State Scholarships

The State Scholarship and Loan Commission has announced the opening of competition for 13,200 scholarships, 3,100 College Opportunity Grants and 700 occupational education and training grants for the 1976-77 college year.

Applicants for state scholarships must take the Scholastic Aptitude Test and must have not completed more than six semesters or nine quarters of college work prior to use of the award.

College Opportunity Grants are offered to students of low-income families — not exclusive to minority groups. The applicants must have completed not more than one semester of college work as a full-time student or 16 semester units as a part-time student.

Occupational Education and Training Grants go to applicants who demonstrate occupational achievement or aptitude according to standards developed by the Commission.

All applicants must file parents' confidential statements and be social security card-carrying residents of California.

Appication forms are requisite and have been sent to secondary schools and colleges throughout the state.

Weekend of Rodeo Set at Lakeside

The Lakeside Junior Rodeo Association holds a two-day rodeo Saturday and Sunday at Lakeside Arena, Highway 67 and Mapleview.

Saturday's performance is at 4 p.m. and Sunday action begins at 2 p.m.

Children between the ages of 8 and 17 are welcome to participate.

Refreshments will be served on the grounds and a barbecue follows Saturday activities with dancing at Burton's Arena in El Cajon.

Ample parking and seating will be available at the rodeo.

Admission to the rodeo is $2, $1.50 if advanced sale tickets are obtained through Marge Herndon, 463-0519.

Robbins, Fender To Team for Country Concert

A couple of country kings are coming down the pike. Country music artists Marty Robbins and Freddy Fender, are coming to San Diego for a joint concert, September 20 at the Civic Theatre.

Marty Robbins' career has run the gamut of professions and includes singer, composer, musician, actor, race car driver and businessman. He is best known for his classic hit "El Paso" and for "White Sport Coat", "Devil Woman" and "Big Iron".

Freddy Fender, referred to as "Super Tex-Mex", is a recent country music sensation. Fender's music makes use of his native Mexican rhythm. "Before the Next Teardrop Falls" and "Wasted Days and Wasted Nights" have been chart-toppers for the Super Tex-Mex.

Two performances are scheduled at 7 and 9:45 p.m.

CLUB WOMAN'S CALENDAR

Meeting, Music Open New Woman's Club Year Wed.

A board of directors meeting opens a new season for Southern District 26 of the Southern Federation of Women's Clubs on Wednesday.

Gateway, Olivewood and Imperial Beach are hostess clubs for this first meeting of the new year held at the La Mesa Women's Clubhouse, 5220 Wilson ave., La Mesa.

District President Mrs. Harry Engle calls the meeting to order at 9:30 a.m. Registration starts at 9 a.m.

On the agenda is a report of the CFWC state convention held in May at the Sheraton Hotel, presented by Mrs. Engle.

Entertainment will be provided by Sym-Phony Band, a group of musicians from Meadowbrook Mobile Home Park who have been making music together for five years under the direction of Mrs. Peter J. Brodner. Ruth Harris will accompany the group on piano.

Members of the club and guests are welcome.

Pot Luck Lunch Opens Grove Women's Year

The Lemon Grove Woman's Club meets Friday for the first 1975-76 season event — a pot luck luncheon. Mrs. Walter Shimp returns as the club's president promoting the new year theme "Let Us Not Forget to Be Kind."

New activities are already in the planning stages. The Garden Section of the club, under chairman Mrs. Paul Hockenbury, is organizing a free flower and plant exchange on February 28. Other community clubs have planned similar exchanges on that date.

The Lemon Grove club meets on the second and fourth Friday of each month at 1:30 p.m. Club house is located at 2810 Main st. and guests are always welcome.

Club Judges Contestants; Mum on Winners

Ruby Bridwell, president of Showcase Writers Club, has announced that the annual county-wide contest entries have been judged.

No winners will be divulged until Award Night late in October. Invitations will be sent to all contestants about three weeks before this date.

Visitors are welcome to the club's afternoon meetings, the second and fourth Tuesdays each month from 1-3 p.m. Manuscripts are read and evaluated at the meeting.

The evening group meets the second and fourth Wednesdays 7-9 p.m.

Meetings are held at Porter Hall, 4910 Memorial dr., La Mesa.

BWA National Honors Chairman Mrs. Litten

The Kansas City national headquarters of the American Business Women's Association paid tribute recently to Lemon Grove resident Ollie Litten, charter chapter expansion chairman, for outstanding services rendered in formation of the new East County charter chapter, "Valle Del Sol."

Mrs. Litten was also honored by her own chapter which presented her a "merit award for extra effort and services.

She works with Scripps Clinic Research Foundation in La Jolla.

Odd Fellows Meeting, Pot-Luck Picnic Set

Wednesday is the date for the next general business meeting of local Mesa Jewel Rebekah Lodge No. 409. The branch of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will meet at the Lemon Grove V.F.W. Hall at 7:30 p.m. Noble Grand Mrs. Lee Brothers presides, assisted by Vice Grand Mrs. Fern Korab.

Refreshments follow the meeting.

The group will join area districts in their annual pot luck picnic September 21 at Wild Wood Park in Vista.

Women Voters Luncheon is Fall Kickoff

Grossmont-Cajon Valley League of Women Voters will open its fall season with the annual Kick-Off Luncheon on Friday at the Bronze Room, 8998 La Mesa blvd. The meeting will begin with a social hour at 11 a.m. Following luncheon, Assemblyman Bob Wilson will discuss state finances.

Senator Jack Schrade was unable to participate.

Persons interested in state finances are invited to the Kick-Off Luncheon. Luncheon is $4.25.

For reservations, call Joanna Kendall, 461-7557, or Doris Shannon, 466-9506, by September 16.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization. Its purpose is to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of individual citizens in government.

Membership is open to all persons 18 years or older, and all League meetings are open to all.

Women's Day Fair

Mission Valley Center honors "San Diego Women '75" Saturday in a day-long fair commemorating International Women's Year.

More than 75 community organizations will display exhibits denoting their areas of interest and contributions to the San Diego community. Featured will be social, political, health, military. government and professional organizations and individuals who want to tell the community their story.

Refugees Need More Teacher Volunteers

More volunteers are needed to teach "Survival English" and "Practical Living" classes to Southeast Asian refugees at Camp Pendleton through October 31.

The classes are part of the refugee education program directed by the County Department of Education under contract with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The courses are designed to help the refugees attain basic language and living skills needed to make the transition into America life.

Nearly 550 teachers have volunteered since July 1, meeting with nearly 15,000 students daily.

Many of the volunteers were teachers, college students and business people who gave up vacation time to teach.

Volunteers need not have a teaching credential. Each English volunteer must attend inservice sessions and teach from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. for three days a week or two consecutive Saturdays. "Practical Living" classes are taught three days a week in a two-week period, from 6 to 10 p.m.

Prospective volunteers should call 725-7400 or 725-7016.

Seminar Method

Henry Adams, as a professor at Harvard, was the first American to use the seminar method of teaching history.

Musician Attends Redlands Seminar

REDLANDS—A. Rick Jesse has recently completed a two-week music seminar at the University of Redlands.

He was one of 87 student musicians enrolled in the 16th annual Summer Music Clinic on the Redlands campus. The clinic provided instruction in band, orchestra and chorus, private and small ensemble study, theory classes and special instruction in voice, piano, organ, harpsichord, composition and conducting.

The cilnic director was James Jorgenson, professor of music at the University of Redlands school of music. Visiting instructor in orchestra conducting was Michael Pappone from Long Beach City College.

Jesse lives at 6825 Amber pl., Lemon Grove, and specializes in saxophone.

Lecture Question: Can Middle Class Family Survive?

Can the middle class family avoid poverty?

The question is answered Wednesday by Mary Ward Booth sociology instructor at Grossmont College, when the community education series, "Can the American Family Survive in Today's Society?"

The pubic is invited to the free talk at 8 p.m. in the campus' Fine Recital Hall.

Hair Care Business Flows, BoA Reports

The hair care industry is worth $4.7 billion in annual sales in America according to an article in the Bank of America organ, "Small Business Reporter."

In California alone, the article indicates, some 16,000 hair salons cater to the fashion whims of the public. A salon in a high fashion district can expect to gross $100,000 a year.

According to the report, the recession has had little effect on the industry thanks in part to the changing needs and desires of the customer in recent years.

Even though customers are tightening their money belts these days, ladies — and in increasing numbers, men—are unwilling to give up visits to their stylists.

In the last decade, for example, the natural look in hairstyling has revolutionized the business with the introduction of the cut and dry salon. This development has led to a concerted effort to eradicate the old beauty parlor stereotype. An increased emphasis on haircutting has required greater technical expertise with an accompanying increase in wages and prices.

And still more changes are expected, DoA says. Some forecasters predict that within ten years hair salons will be transformed into paraclinics for the science of trichology (hair care). Clients will spend up to $35 for hair analysis along with their regular styling.

Symphony Patrons Offer: Free Rubinstein Album

A free recording of legendary Artur Rubinstein is being offered new subscribers to the San Diego Symphony's Winter Celebrity Season.

The offer applies to the full Thursday and Friday series plus half Series B and D according to Robert Christian, Symphony general manager.

Subscribers to the full series also receive 10 concerts for the price of 8 and receive priority in ordering tickets for the special appearance of Artur Rubinstein with the Symphony October 31.

The new coming Winter Celebrity Season features a world premiere and the inauguration of a new four concert Sunday Matinee Series.

Music Director Peter Eros will conduct nine of the concert pairs and Exxon/Arts Endowment Conductor Charles Ketcham will take the podium for one concert, in addition to preparing the Chorale for their performance in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony.

Three of the 11 guest soloists are making their first apperance with the San Diego Symphony Orchestra. They are Andor Foldes, Hungarian-born pianist, winner of the International Liszt Prize; Tenor Seth McCoy, who toured with Robert Shaw and sang during inaugural week at the Kennedy Center in Washington D.C.; and Soprano Jessye Norman who performed at the Berlin Festival with Fischer-Dieskau prior to making her debut at La Scala and Convent Garden.

Van Cliburn will return to San Diego as well as violinist Ruggiero Ricci; pianists Lorin Hollander, Gina Bachauer, Paul Badura-Skoda, Balint Vazsonyi; and mezzo soprano Marvellee Cariaga. Concertmaster Harold Wolf will also appear as a guest soloist.

Van Cliburn will perform McDowell's Second Piano Concerto and Maestro Eros will lead the orchestra in Strauss' Till Eulenspiegel and Brahams' First Symphony for the season opener.

The San Diego Symphonic Chorale will join the orchestra in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony on November 13 and 14. Andor Foldes will play Beethoven's Fifth Piano Concerto. Peter Eros will conduct.

Vogue Section Meets

Mrs. Mildred Grim, chairman of the Vogue Section of the Lemon Grove Woman's Club, presides at a Monday meeting at the 2810 Main st. club house.

Secret Sisters for the past year will be identified and a preview of the coming year is included at the meeting.

Cyclethon Event Open to All Ages

The seventh annual Cyclethon will be held Saturday, September 27 over a scenic Mission Bay course starting near D'Anza Cove.

Riders can take part between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m. and there is no age limit.

It is jointly sponsored by the American Heart Assn., the Arthritis Foundation, and the American Youth Hostels.

Jim Martinez of KOGO-Radio is Cyclethon chairman, and he has arranged many new features for the event. "This year we'll have many more prizes and free offerings than in the past," Martinez said. "Our top statewide prize is a Honda motorcycle. On the local level, there'll be Schwinn ten-speed bikes, a 12" Sony Color TV, and Cyclethon bike bags."

"An attraction, certain to be popular, is a free lunch — an old fashioned wiener roast with potato chips and soda pop — available for all riders. Another special attraction will be the "Trike-A-Thon" for kiddies six years and under. They'll ride on a 1/4 mile supervised course, and compete for suitable prizes," Martinez said.

Cyclethon brochures and entry blanks are available at all junior and senior high schools in the county, all bike shops, and at any of the three sponsoring agencies.

Prize winners will be judged by the most money raised by the participants and turned in to any of the sponsoring agencies before October 27.

Due to the time lag for contestants to collect and turn in money raised by the contest, winners will not be announced until October 29 at 7 a.m. on the Ernie Myers Show on KOGO-Radio.

The couple honeymooned in Ensenada, Mexico. They reside in National City.

Tour Planned to View Zoo's Landscaping

A tour of the exotic plants at the San Diego Zoo will be conducted by the Natural History Museum on Saturday, led by Helen Witham, associate curator of botany at the museum.

Zoo planting is being organized into a true botanic garden with plants arranged for educational use.

Plants are labeled and grouped according to climatic zones with tropic and subtropic plants in the eastern sectors of the zoo and deciduous tree and other temperate climate plants in western sectors.

The two-hour tour will be limited to 40 people. Of special interest will be the area near the children's zoo where the new Bromeliad garden is located.

The charge is $2. Reservations are placed at the museum's activities office, 232-3821.

Series Goal is Human Understanding

The La Mesa Library and Grossmont College have teamed to produce a six-week forum of lectures and films titled "Understanding Unlimited", featuring a list of well-known San Diego authors.

Dr. Howard R. Delaney opens the series September 23 with "For the Jung at Heart."

Each lecture is held at the Ben Polak Fine Arts Center, 8053 University ave., La Mesa, at 7:30 p.m.

Other speakers include:

Dr. David D. Stonecypher, speaking on "Growing Older and Staying Young," September 30.

Dr. J. Weber, "Gringos vs. Greasers: Stereotyping Mexican Americans," October 21;

Dr. Harold H. Bloomfield, "TM: Discovering Inner Energy and Overcoming Stress," October 28.

Eminent La Jolla psychologist Dr. Carl Rogers is featured in a film-forum.

The series is free, but preregistration is required at 465-1700, ext. 241.

How to be Museum's Nature Tour Guide . . .

A course to train guides to conduct tours of Balboa Park nature trails is being offered by the San Diego Natural History Museum.

The 4-hour classes are held Saturday mornings starting September 20 and continue through November 22, from 9 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. They are conducted by the Museum staff in the field and will cover rocks, minerals, birds, snakes, lizards, insects, and plants and their relationship to soil and climate. There is no charge for the Museum course.

Upon graduation from the 10-week course, volunteers will be expected to lead tours through the Florida Canyon hillside areas of Balboa Park as part of the Museum's program of outdoor, environmental education.

Those interested in making application should contact the Museum's Activities Department, 232-3821.

This Week's RECIPE

Iceberg Salad Frees Hostess

If plans call for a small but gala party, "Iceberg Party Salad" is an elegant yet simple first-course salad which can also fit into a buffet menu. This happy combination of flavors and textures brings together crisp, green chunks of western iceberg lettuce, bright orange slices, sweet onion rings, cubes of cream cheese and shiny ripe olives laced generously with a spicy tart vinaigrette dressing.

Ideal as a do-ahead salad to allow you to enjoy the party along with guests.

ICEBERG PARTY SALAD

- 1 medium-size head western iceberg lettuce
- 3 medium California oranges
- 1 small red onion, peeled and thinly sliced
- 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
- 2/3 cup canned, pitted ripe olives
- 1/4 cup corn oil
- 4 teas. lemon juice
- 3/4 teas. salt
- 1/4 teas. sugar
- 1/4 teas. basil, crumbled
- 1/2 teas. grated lemon peel

Core, rinse and drain lettuce thoroughly; chill in disposable plastic bag or plastic crisper. At serving time, cut lettuce in bite-size chunks. Pare oranges, removing all of white portion; cut in halves lenghwise and in thin crosswise slices. Separate onion slices into rings. Cut cream cheese in small cubes. Combine oil, lemon juice, salt, sugar, basil and lemon peel and shake together in small covered jar. Combine lettuce, oranges, onion, cheese and olives in large bowl; pour on dressing and toss lightly.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Serve at once.

Chargers Host Vikings Saturday For Final Preseason Encounter

The Chargers bring their 1-4 record to the Stadium Saturday to provide entertainment for the NFC champion Minnesota Vikings and those avid fans who want to observe the last preseason game of the year.

Kickoff is 8 p.m.

The Vikes are only one win better (2-3) than the Chargers. But San Diego has Fran Tarkenton and Alan Page — an awesome pair — to deal with.

Still seeking the health and impetus to get their offense into high gear, the Chargers are returning home after losing games at St. Louis and New England. Saturday's game will be an important tuneup for their next game— the National Football League opener against the world champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Vikings have won four preseason games against the Chargers including a 42-0 romp at Bloomington last year. San Diego won a game between the teams at San Diego 30-14 in 1971.

The game will be broadcast over radio KSDO by Andy Musser and Dick Van Raaphorst. A tape replay on KCST-39 may be seen Sunday at 5 p.m. with Mike Smith and Dave Campbell calling the game.

Tickets are $13, $8.50 and $7 with choice seats available. General admission is $4, and $2 for those under 16. Tickets are also available for the Steelers game.

Last Week

Last week at Foxboro the Chargers lost to the New England Patriots 31-24 before 39,502 fans. Ahead 17-7 at halftime, San Diego was stunned by three touchdowns at the hands of running back Leon McQuay early in the third quarter. They were also stunned when the opening kickoff was fumbled by Mike Fuller near the Charger goal line after which the Vikes converted it quickly into a touchdown.

Quarterback Dan Fouts played the first half and was 4 for 9 for 55 yards as a redeeming combination of aggressive defense and sensational punt returning by Fuller put the Chargers in command.

Carter in Second Half

QB Virg Carter played the second half. He was 9 for 12 for 126 yards with most of the offense generated in an 89-yard touchdown drive in the final moments.

Said head coach Tommy Prothro: "We still haven't played offense this year. In the first half we played very good defense. In the second half we didn't play well."

When Charger rookie defensive tackle Gary (Big Hands) Johnson returned the Pats fumble 11 yards for a touchdown it was the second score of 1975 for the No. 1 draft choice from Grambling. Johnson returned a fumble 66 yards in the coaches' All-America game at Lubbock in June.

Tarkington Leads

Viking quarterback Fran Tarkington is the leading active NFL passer and ranks second to Johnny Unitas in most career passing categories To overtake Unitas, Tarkington needs 387 attempts, 173 completions, 25 TD passes and 4,394 yards. In his 15 years he has rushed more yards (3,521) than any quarterback in NFL history.

At the game, Don Woods, who rushed for 1,162 yards to win rookie of the year honors in 1974, will be given a sculptured trophy by the Union-Tribune and their "Player of the Year," together with a check for $1,000.

CIF Tennis Day to Draw 600 High School Girls

More than 600 high school girl competitors are expected to take part in a tennis clinic given by Wightman Cup captain Julie Heldman and a day of spectating at the Mission Viejo Women's Tennis Classic Tuesday, September 30.

Invited high school teams from throughout Southern California will be guests of Tournament Director Norm Williams for a special $1 fee that will include the clinic and 12 scheduled first-round matches.

"C.I.F. Day," originated by Williams for the Virginia Slims of Mission Viejo tournament in 1974, attracted 450 girl players from as far away as Brawley, Williams said. Inquiries by coaches indicate an attendance this year of nearly 700, he added.

Heldman, outspoken leader of the women's tennis movement as well as one of the world's best players, will be conducting the clinic on behalf of the Tea Council of the U.S.A. Her emphasis will be on training techniques, diet and conditioning, but the clinic will include basic playing form and game strategy.

Ticket patrons at the afternoon session will also be able to attend the clinic, which will be held on center court between afternoon and evening matches from 4 to 6 p.m.

The following day, Wednesday, October 1, will be a charity event benefitting Childrens Hospital of Orange County. Half of all ticket proceeds will go to the hospital. Scheduled to be played are all 16 second round singles matches.

Six Matadors In Charity Corrida Sun.

Six of Mexico's most famous matadors will perform Sunday in a benefit corrida at the bullring by the sea, Plaza Monumental de Tijuana, beginning at 4 p.m.

This is the annual Golden Sword Corrida in which each matador faces one bull. The man whose performance is acclaimed the best will receive a small replica of a golden sword worth $400.

Proceeds, other than expenses for the matadors, will go to their medical fund. Because of corridas such as this, and union deductions each time a man fights, he does not directly pay medical expenses if he is injured.

Toreros will be ace Curro Rivera, the daring Adrian Romero, Manolo Espinosa (Armillita), Jesus Solorzano Jr., Humberto Moro Jr., and Carlos Serrano (El Voluntario). They will face bulls of the prestigious Torrecilla ranch.

Each matador has performed previously at Tijuana this summer — some of them several times. And one, Romero, has benefited this year from medical costs such as those to be raised in the Golden Sword Corrida.

Romero, 25, the daring and artistic star from Mexico City, who won the Golden Sword Trophy in 1971 was gored in the right thigh May 25 while placing banderillas to a Reyes Huerta bull. He was hospitalized for nearly one week at Clinica Primavera in Tijuana.

The only scheduled corrida in Tijuana after the Golden Sword event is on Sept. 21.

Cage, Sleeper Matches at Coliseum Tuesday

Co-features will be offered Tuesday night at the Coliseum when Mickey Davies puts on his weekly wrestling show.

One feature is a cage match between Choi Sun and Gregg Valentine with two falls winning. But the rule book is thrown away and anything goes. The cage prevents one from getting away from the other.

In the other match Butcher Brannigan meets the Samoan in a test of sleeper hold science. This match will be without time limit.

Three other matches round out the bill.

Coming later in the month is Andre the Giant — who usually plays to a sell-out.

Doors at the Coliseum, at 14th and E sts. in San Diego, will open at 6:30 and the first match is at 7:30. Tickets are $4 ringside; $3.50 reserved and $2.50 general. Reserved for seniors are $2.50. Kids under 11 $1.50. Reservation number is 232-1904.

Most Memorable Moment Could be Kroc's Speech

It may come as no surprise that in Pittsburgh Bill Mazeroski's dramatic 1960 World Series-winning home run is the early pacesetter in the Pirates' Most Memorable Moments voting. It was predictable that Game 7 clout would attract attention.

Something else predictable about the competition, which is one of baseball's tie-ins with the nation's Bicentennial celebration, is coming true. The selection of the game's Most Memorable Moments and Most Memorable Personalities is getting considerable attention from the media and from baseball fans, two groups known to enjoy reminiscing.

Baseball writers and columnists are finding they can take a variety of approaches and end up with copy that is serious, touching or just fun.

Here are some samples:

THE NIGHT 93,103 TURNED OUT — John Hall, Los Angeles Times, tabbed Don Drysdale, "who never missed a turn", his Most Memorable Dodger Personality. "Most Memorable Dodger Moment — the Roy Campanella benefit exhibition vs. the Yankees, drawing 93,103 on a magic May night in 1959."

MANTLE TRIED TO HELP OUT — Maury Allen, New York Post, started a MMM column with a recollection of the day the Yankees traded Johnny Blanchard to Kansas City. "He filled two huge bath towels with his tears and Mickey Mantle walked over to console him. 'Look at it this way, John, you'll get a chance to catch every day,' Mantle said. 'That,' cried Blanchard, with a huge gulp, 'is what I'm crying about.' "

DI MAG MAKES HIS CHOICE — Wayne Minshew, Atlanta Constitution, thinking about the selections, wanted to know who Joe DiMaggio considered the best player he ever saw. "He looked surprise at the question, but answered convincingly. 'Charley Gehringer. I saw him late, but he could do everything and do it well. He was a mechanical type player, made everything look so easy. He really impressed me.' "

For many in San Diego it may have been owner Ray Kroc's memorable 10 second speech via the stadium speaker system regarding the Padres performance, "They're playing stupid baseball."

Major league teams are conducting selections of the Most Memorable Moment and Personality from their own area right now, with most of the balloting ending about the time the season concludes. National selections, which will include local winners, will be made next year, with the overall winners to be saluted during All-Star Game festivities next July.

Ascot Park Schedule

The week-end schedule at Ascot Park in Gardena listed AMA professional half-mile motorcycles Friday at 8 p.m. and the Inaugural California 100-mile Sprint Car Championshop Saturday at 8.

Sunday afternoon, street stocks will race at 2 with FEAR figure 8's, ovals, and demolition derby scheduled for 8 p.m.

At 7:30 Wednesday, CMC motocross will get underway.

Less Cows

Slightly more than 11 million dairy cows are on U.S. dairy farms, down .05 percent from 1974 levels.

4-Day Mission Bay Event For World's Fastest Boats

Thunderboats, those speedy hydroplanes which shoot rooster plumes of water high in their wake, will compete in Mission Bay Sunday, September 21.

Speeds will reach or exceed 100 m.p.h. as boats go through test and qualifying laps on September 18, 19 and 20. To qualify, the craft must do at least one lap at 100 m.p.h. These laps will be run between 9 and 5 each of those days.

The Sunday race will be for the national championship with three boats already leading the pack. The series started in Miami in May and the San Diego finale is the 10th of the circuit.

Leaders

Leading are Bill Schumacher in Weisfield; George Henly in Pay 'N Pak, and Tom D'Eath in Miss U.S.

San Diego's Bill Muncey, the winningest driver in the nation, is only running 7th due to mechanical trouble with the engine of his Atlas Vans. He has recorded 33 wins including three world championships, five Gold Cups and four APBA championships.

In the Sunday race, drivers will make five laps of a 2½ mile course. Before the races are over, each will do it for five heats.

After that, the six fastest boats will go in the Trophy race — it also is five laps of the 2½ mile course.

Consolation Race

The remaining boats will compete in a consolation race.

The calm waters of the Mission Bay course is the fastest in the world, officials say. In 1965 the world record of 115 m.p.h. over a three mile course was established. In one heat a record of 116 miles was made.

The events can best be seen from Fiesta Island which can be reached from Sea World drive. There is no admission charge for walk-ins but a four-day parking fee of $4 is charged. Refreshment stands will accommodate the food and drink needs of the public.

The races are sponsored by Thunderboats Unlimited, San Diego, an organization of boat racing enthusiasts. Headquarters is at Hanalei Hotel in Mission Valley or telephone 298-5444.

Aztecs In PAC-8 Try At Portland Saturday

San Diego State University takes only its second football venture into the PAC-8 in 41 years Saturday when the Aztecs meet Oregon State at 8:15 p.m. in Portland.

The game will be broadcast in the San Diego and Los Angeles areas on KFMB Radio (760) with Ron Reina and Tom Nettles calling the action. Broadcast time is 7:55 p.m.

The game, which will be played in Portland Civic Stadium, is the second game of a doubletheader. Portland State meets Nevada (Reno) in the first game at 5 p.m.

The Aztecs, 1-0 on the season after a 31-10 opening win last week over Texas (El Paso), met and defeated Oregon State in the opener of the 1972 season 17-8. Prior to that the Aztecs had not met an opponent from the PAC-8 since a 20-0 loss to UCLA in 1934.

For Oregon State the game is its 1975 season opener. The game is being played in Portland rather than Corvallis (the regular home of the Beavers) because classes have not yet started at Oregon State.

The Beavers were only 3-8 last season and have not had a winning season since 1970. The team, however, appears to be on the rebound. Experts pick the Beavers no worse than fifth in the PAC-8 and OSU coach Dee Andros feels his club is among the best four in the conference.

Last week against Texas (El Paso) the Aztecs opened the season like Aztec teams always do — throwing the ball. All-America quarterback candidate Craig Penrose hit 17 of 31 passes for 281 yards and a touchdown. Backup man Tom Craft hit four of five for 39 yards to give the Aztecs 21 completions on 36 attempts for 320 yards. Overall the team rolled up 412 yards total offense to 194 for the Miners.

The 17 completions were spread among eight receivers with Duke Ferguson collecting six for 93 yards. Tight end Vollon Dixon had four for 56 yards and a TD.

Defensively, Mike Gilbert was a standout with two fumble recoveries and a quarterback sack to his credit.

"Overall I'm pleased with our opener," said Aztec coach Claude Gilbert. "Penrose played better than even we expected and we expected him to play well. We had some penalties and errors, but they were errors of enthusiasm and opening game jitters."

30-Lapper For S.B. Oval Saturday

Races start at 8 p.m. at the South Bay Park Speedway Saturday at usual.

More that 40 street stocks are booked in this week's competition with a Trophy Dash for the six top qualifiers.

A race for mechanics and sponsors will follow the 30-lap main event.

CPP Motorcycle Classic Attracts Foreign Aces

For the first time in American motorcycle racing two classes of competition in the upcoming Champion Spark Plug Motorcycle Classics carry a full international sanction from the American Motorcycle Assn. and Europe's Federation Internationale Motocycliste. The races are scheduled for October 4 and 5 at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

It means that both days of racing at Ontario will feature entries from star riders all over the world and, as a result, two World Champions have already confirmed their entries for both Saturday's Lightweight (250cc) event and the main Formula 750 race on the following day.

Team Flies In

Harley Davidson will be flying in their European factory team from H-D's subsidiary in Varese, Italy and spearheading this assault will be Italian Walter Villa who recently clinched his second World 250cc World Championship in succession. He will get strong support (or competition!) from Frenchman, Michel Rougerie, who is currently riding the crest of a wave and won both the Finnish and Czechoslovakian Grands Prix.

Aiming to oust the Harleys from the Lightweight win will be Venezuelan sensation, Johnny Cecotto, who battled Villa all year long for the 250cc title. Cecotto lost out to Villa in that one but got more than consolation by beating out superstar Giacomo Agostini to annex the 350-cc World Championship in his rookie Grand Prix year.

Agostini recently clinched the World 500cc Championship to take his World title tally to 15 and negotiations are currently in progress to bring the Italian back to Ontario for the second year in succession. He is still smarting from the fact that he only made half a lap in the 1974 Champion Spark Plug Classics before being edged off into the strawbales after a brush with another rider.

Overseas Roster

The prospect of a full two-day International program and a $40,000-plus cash purse that is boosted to over $60,000 by contingencies, has attracted an overseas entry to do 175mph wheel to wheel battle with America's best.

Already confirmed the the following riders from overseas: Walter Villa (Italy, Harley Davidson), Michel Rougerie (France, Harley Davidson), Johnny Cecotto (Venezuela, Yamaha), Teuvo Lansivuori (Finland, Suzuki), Barry Sheene (England, Suzuki), Barry Ditchburn (England, Kawasaki), Mick Grant (England, Kawasaki), Masahira Wada (Japan, Kawasaki), Takao Abe (Japan, Kawasaki), Keisei Katayama (Japan, Yamaha), John Boote (New Zealand, Yamaha), Greg Hansford (Australia, Kawasaaki), Warren Willing (Australia, Yamaha).

All are either fully-fledged factory riders or receive strong support for their independently-sponsored teams.

Lobos Seek Win No. 3 Sun.

The Pasadena Roses will be guests of the San Diego Lobos Sunday at 1:30 in the Mesa College stadium for the Womens Professional football team's fourth game of the young season.

Sunday, the Lobos kept its unbeaten record intact by defeating the Los Angeles Dandelions 14-13 in an away from home game.

In the first game of the season, at San Diego on August 17, the Lobos held the Dandelions to a 6-6 tie.

The following week against the Dallas-Ft. Worth Shamrocks, the Lobos were deadlocked 6-6 at the end of the half but came back in the last half to score 25 points and record a 31-6 score.

Sunday, at Los Angeles, the Dandelions were leading 13-0. But Angela Carmichael broke it open in the third quarter with a 73 yard scamper. Her record: 131 rushing. Sandy Malhiot completed five for 11 for 45 yards and a touchodwn. In a 73 yard drive in 9 plays. she hit Karen Thompson for 15 yards to tie the score. Carmichael again ran for the extra point.

Margaret Branter intercepted a pass late in the game to help give San Diego its second victory and a 2-0-1 record.

S. D. Breakers Spike 6 Records In Maiden Year

The San Diego Breakers, runner-up to the Los Angeles Stars in the first International Volleyball Assn. season, posted six team records and two individual records in the IVA's initial record ledger and make history doing so.

Coach Rudy Suwara's localites garnered top honors in the stuff blocks caegory, getting 401, while the Santa Barbara Spikers stuffed 364 blocks for second place. San Diego had 66 serve aces to lead the league while the Spikers were again in second spot with 57. In total attempts for the season, or total spikes, the Breakers led with 4,077 to Santa Barbara's 3,890 and in spike-kills, the locals dented the oppositions court 1,636 to lead the five team circuit. Again, it was Santa Barbara that placed second in that department with 1,593 kills.

Saving Digs

In the saving dig area, the Breakers were second only to the El Paso-Juarez Sol getting 860 to the Texas team's 947.

San Diego also ranked as the number one team in games played as they rolled to 17 victories in 101 games. The LA aggergation racked up 18 victories in 98 tilts for second-best honors.

In the IVA's individual statistic records, the Breakers Assistant player-coach, Bill Wardrop, won top honors in the stuff block department with 162.

Mitch Malpee of the Breakers tied with Tochi Toyoda of the Bangers in most serve aces, each getting 14 to lead the league and go down in the history books.

The San Diego also scored the most points in one match (58) and also for the entire season (1,059).

Winning Streak

Los Angeles had the longest winning streak with 12 matches, while El Paso suffered the longest losing streak with 7 matches.

Ironically, the IVA Champions, the Stars, did not capture any season team records other that the 12 match winning streak while the second place Breakers had six team records posted in the record ledgers.

Head Coach, Rudy Suwara played in the most games of any of the pro-volleyballers as he saw action in 100 games.

The Breakers moved into the front position in attendance near the middle of the season seeing 54,180 fans pour through the turnstiles in 19 matches.

El Paso/Juarez counted a total of 42,155 pro-volleyball enthusiasts. Both the Breakers and the Sol played a total of 18 home matches while the other teams played host only eight times apiece.

Rowboat Regatta To Give MS Aid

The Circle K Club at San Diego State is putting together its second annual Rowboat Regatta which will test rowers from San Pedro to Catalina Island October 25.

Circle K clubs are established in high schools and colleges by Kiwanis clubs in their areas. In State's project, Circle K clubs from colleges and universities throughout California will send members to muscle two-man rowboats across the 22-mile passage. Proceeds will benefit multiple sclerosis funds.

Each club will be assigned a rowboat and escort vessels will watch over the rowers on the day-long excursion (last year's event took 10½ hours to complete). Escort boats will serve as base for changes of rowing teams.

Multiple sclerosis has been called the greatest crippler of young adults. It breaks down the central nervous system so that the victim is deprived of even the simplest bodily functions.

Tenant's Auto Stoles

A Chevrolet Impala, belonging to Lee C. Schlendorf, of 7025 Waite dr., apt. 18A, Lemon Grove, was stolen Friday from the apartment complex parking lot where he lives.

His loss was $800.

McNamara Eyes Third Place If Current Series Goes Well

You hear a lot of talk about this time of the year as the baseball season begins its death throes that these are the "dog days" for the sport. The pennant races may not be decided, but, for the most part, the races are down to just a couple of teams and most of the clubs are merely out playing out the season and beginning to cast an eye to next year.

Such is not the case this time around for the San Diego Padres. Far from it.

For once, the club is not in the cellar of the National League's Western Division. For once, the Padres are not locked firmly into that last place position with no hopes for advancement. In short, times have changed. No longer are the Padres the hapless club of the past.

This year the month of September finds the club in the midst of a scramble for a finish in the first division. You could throw a proverbial blanket over the second through fifth place clubs and it looks like it will be going right down to the wire before the final standings are determined.

Picks Reds

"It will take nothing short of a miracle for someone to catch Cincinnati," Padre manager John McNamara said. "I don't believe it's possible for anyone to even get close to the Reds. But, we still have our sights set on that first division finish and it's going to be between ourselves, San Francisco and Atlanta to see who gets that number three slot behind the Reds and Los Angeles.

"The way things are shaping up, I believe we'll be heading into the final two weeks of the season in an "anything' goes position," continued the San Diego boss.

"Quite frankly, I feel it will be between the Giants and us for third place and the schedule shows us playing San Francisco seven times in the last 11 games of the year.

"It's an exciting feeling to know you've got a shot at winding up in the first division, especially after virtually everyone tabbed us for the cellar."

Farewell Braves, Astros

Meanwhile, two more season series will come to a conclusion in the next few days as the Padres put the wraps on their games with the Atlanta Braves and the Houston Astros for the year.

The Padres finish out with the Braves tonight and then bid farewell to Houston with single games on Friday and Sunday.

The club will be idle Saturday due to a Chargers exhibition game Saturday evening in the Stadium.

Starting times for the final Atlanta and first Houston game will be 7 p.m. with the homestand finale on Sunday going at the usual 1 p.m. time.

Road Trip Monday

Following the short six-game homestand, the Padres will hit the road to Los Angeles for three games, September 15-17, take an off-day on September 18 and then visit San Francisco for three, September 19-21. The six affairs with the other two California-based clubs will be the final road tiffs of the season for the Padres.

"You always start to look back on things about this time of the year and wonder if things would have been different if you'd played certain games different ways or hadn't had certain injuries," said John McNamara who is finishing out his second season as manager of the club.

Pitching Turned Bad

"I honestly don't think there are many games in which we would have changed our strategy," related McNamara. "For the most part, games I would like to play over again, if only in my mind, are those when we were having problems due to injuries of one variety or another. The key thing I guess for us this past season was having the pitching turn bad on us about midway through the year. Maybe if we'd been able to keep it going like early in the year, we might be in second place.

"However, those are always two very big words for any manager — maybe and if."

As for the upcoming games, the Padres find themselves looking to the clashes with the Dodges in Los Angeles.

"We aren't looking past the Braves and Astros at all," stated McNamara. "Those are two clubs we must beat in order to finish in third place. But, you can't help but notice that with our season record against the Dodgers standing at 5-7, we have a great chance to win the series from them with some good play at the right time."

Diamondbacks Lead In Adult League

President Max McNab's CHL Opens Training Soon

by Max Goodwin

Gulls fans remember Max McNab.

He was coach and general manager before he turned the coaching over to Jack Evans and devoted full time to managing the operation of the Gulls.

He was the general manager when the Western Hockey League suspended back in 1974.

He is now president of the Central Hockey League — a post he accepted last year.

His managerial abilities soon brought order into the league's operation, it is said. It must be so since he is highly respected among the six franchises of CHL.

McNab comes to mind because a rumor which hung on until the other day had the Mariners pulling up stakes here. The Mariners took notice of the rumors last week long enough to deny that any such plans existed.

How Would It Be?

It also gave rise to the wonderment of what the hockey scene would have been like if Bob Breitbard owner of the Gulls, and the National Hockey League had moved a little faster and nailed down the arena instead of inviting the World Hockey League into town.

The continuing squabble between Bob Breitbard and Peter Graham, the leaseholder of the Arena successfully stalled the NHL's willingness to move any faster than it did, it has been said.

But the Mariners are here and drawing better than many thought they would. Their brand of hockey is exciting and they wooed the loyalty of many die-hard Gullnicks.

And McNab is in Dallas running a good, tight CHL ship.

Season Starts Soon

In his current news letter he notes that it is nearing the start of CHL's 13th season. The Salt Lake City Golden Eagles, defending Adams Cup champions, begins training next week in Portland.

The Tulsa Oilers begin their workouts in Tulsa September 28. In between the Dallas Black Hawks; Ft. Worth Texans; Oklahoma City Blazers, and CHL's newest franchise, the Tucson Mavericks break onto the ice.

CHL season opens the second week in October.

President Max

McNab's CHL overview as president comes from his office at 6060 N. Central Expressway, suite 144, Dallas, TX 75206. Many of his Lemon Grove-Spring Valley fans may want to drop him a line to wish him a successful CHL season.

He's a good man and deserves good wishes. We'll save ours until the day, soon we hope, when he'll be doing an equally fine job as president of the National Hockey League.

Foyt Signs For IROC Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif — You just can't have a race of champions, it seems, without A. J. Foyt.

The world's most successful race car driver has agreed reluctantly for the third year in a row to compete in the International Race of Champions, a four race series which matches 12 of the world's top drivers in identical race cars.

"I don't have anything to gain by competing in the series," Foyt said from his racing shops in Houston, "but I like racing, so I'm going to be there."

Not many of the drivers invited to compete in the $212,000 series, which begins September 13 at Michigan International Speedway, would agree there's nothing to gain. The winner's share this year will be at least $50,000 and for finishing second last year, Foyt himself won $27,600.

Ten Others

Foyt is the eleventh driver named so far to the IROC field. The others included defending champion Bobby Unser, stock car drivers Richard Petty, David Pearson, Bobby Allison and Benny Parsons. American road racing and Indianapolis star Mario Andretti and European road racers Emerson Fittipaldi, Brian Redman, Jody Scheckter and James Hunt.

The second and third legs of the series will be held on the road course at Riverside, on October 25-26 and the fourth race is set for February 13 on the high-banked oval at Daytona Beach.

The driver with the most points earned in all four events will become the third IROC Champion.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

In the next few weeks, give or take a month, some Congress type or "informed" Washington insider is gonna "break" the story of how Charlie Manson and Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme are really undercover agents of the CIA.

There'll be great winkin' of the eyes and pokin' of elbows in the ribs as the story gets around that the recent attempted shootin' of President Ford was really an "inside" job and of how the whole deal was a coverted conspiracy of some evil doin' government coup kooks.

Now, that is heavy doin', certainly benefittin' the kind of minds that write television commercials or direct political campaigns.

The sports world is much simpler. Everything is out in the open, even when they're trying to be devious. The mentality of sports dealers is such that even their most complex and intricate involvements are open books.

Like the way the Bavasi's are paving the way to dump Padre manager John McNamara. Even thoough he broke their strangle hold on the cellar.

"Why?" you might wonder and that's an honest question, but simple enough to answer if you care to look.

McNamara has taken a not-too-talented team from deep in the pits, where they have always in the past lived, into respectability. Barring a flood tide in Mission Valley his Padre charges should finish 4th this campaign and they already own more wins on the season than any previous Padre team collected over a full campaign.

Under McNamara, the Padres have drawn two straight one million plus season fan counts after being all but ignored into Washington D.C. under previous Bavasi managers.

And if Buzzi and Peter take credit for the crowds now, who gets the blame for the empty seats of past seasons?

Anyhow, all of the McNamara credits may not be enough for owner Ray Kroc, who says he wants a winner. And at the age of 74, that means a winner NOW. And, according to the way Kroc figures things, 4th place is not winning. First place is the only spot to hold, everything else is not.

Soo, while McNamara performed minor miracles with two outfielders, a patch quilt infield and a 1.5 man pitching staff, the owner remains unimpressed.

And front office management is preparing for a change with the traditional washing-the-hands-of-responsibility for this year's non-winning effort by firing the manager.

Apparently no credit is to be granted Johnny Mac for directing his Padre cast into shootin' distance of the second place Dodgers as late as mid-July before a series of ouches and hurts hit his pitch and punch.

The Bavasi's did look around their minors for some help, but chose NOT to go elsewhere for assistance. Although what they needed was apparently available. Pitching, for instance . . .

Ex-Dodger Jose Pena, who needs little more than one month to qualify for baseball's pension plan, posted a 22-12 record and a 1.97 ERA with Tabasco, the worst team in the Mexican League. And it's well known around baseball circles that Tabasco owner Charles Mansur will let Pena go if he gets the chance to join a major league cub.

Closer to home, San Diegan Steve Dunning, who led the American Association with a 15-9 record, apparently doesn't fit into White Sox plans. Dunning says the Chi-Sox tell lies about a sore arm he doesn't have.

Now the Bavasi's could say there's no tradin' between leagues at this time and that's true. Except baseball folks do it all the time, "for a player to be named later" and other rule-ducking dodges.

With a little pitching help, the Padres could have been battlin' for 2nd place. They didn't get it and they're not. And the Bavasi's keep leaking, (to their favorite writers) in kind of a put-the-blame-on-the-other-guy-and-save-your-own-job move, that McNamara is on the block.

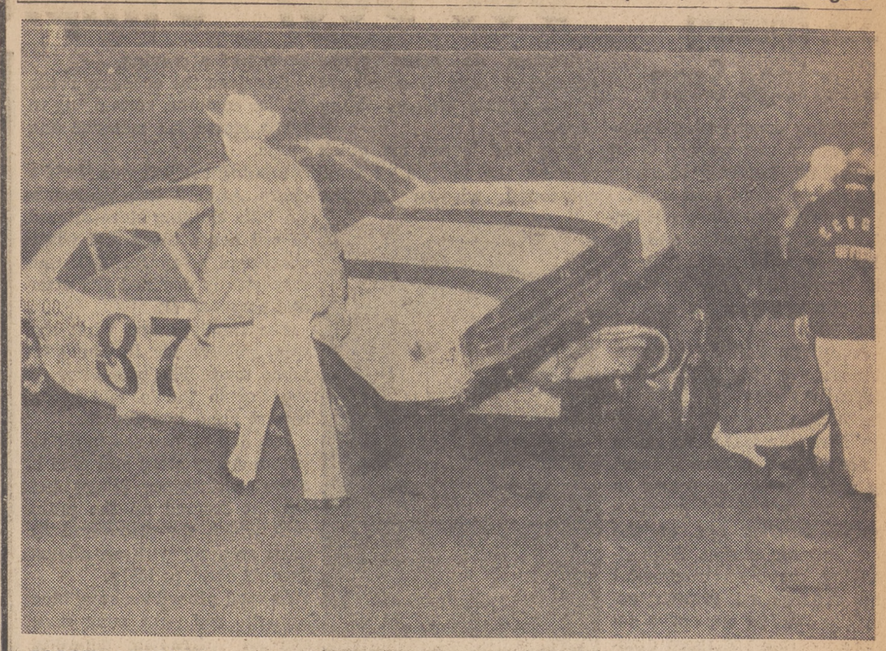

Deep down, that's transparent deviousness. And if Ray Kroc buys that garbage he's a bigger hamburger than all the McDonalds put together.

Jobless Rate Up 1/10

California's unemployment rate edged up one-tenth of a per cent, from 10.1 in July to 10.2 in August, according to the state's employment director Martin Glick.

Glick said that despite the percentage increase, the actual number of Californias seeking jobs dropped by 85,000.

"Our estimate of the actual number of jobseekers — including those looking for their first jobs as well as those laid off — is 898,400. This is 85,000 down from the July total and 122,800 below the June record high of 1,021,200.

S.V. Racer Produces First Win at Cajon

It took Ted Kallos, a 35-year old Spring Valley service station owner, nine years but Saturday he did it.

He outdistanced the field in Cajon Speedway's 40-lap main event to chalk up his first victory.

In his dust were another Spring Valley speed merchant Pat McIntyre and Tim Biggers, the El Cajon runner-up for points. McIntyre, a Spring Valley contractor has 2945 points and leads all Cajon Speedway racers; Biggers is pressing him with 2655.

Kallos' name goes into the record books alongside Jim Hitt's, the Lemon Grove Garageman, who has also won a single main event this year — but both are winners none-the-less.

"I was beginning to wonder if it was ever going to happen," Kallos told well-wishers who swarmed to his car and as his wife rushed up to embrace him. He was out of racing altogether a year ago. "I got a good offer for my old car so I sold it," he said with a shdug. "But you know how it is . . . you can't get racing out of your system. So I came back with this new one."

In Saturday's race Kallos took the lead on the 29th lap after a leader blew a tire and spun out. Biggers, attempting to get inside bumped the rear of Kallos' car on the 38th lap. McIntyre, close behind, slid in the dirt and lost ground.

This week, qualification runs for 60 high-powered super stocks, begin as usual at 6:30. A four-lap trophy dash for the four fastest cars will open the program at 8.

Additionally, women drivers of the ECSCRA will join in another 10-lap powder-puff event.

KCBQ's Bruce Nottingham will offer an exhibition of his super-stock vehicle.

It will be the 21 super-stock program in a series which has attracted more than 1.5 million fans. Saturday the attendance was 3,063.

The track first opened for super-stocks in 1961.

Griffs Open Season Against Arizona Mesa

The Grossmont College Griffins open their 1975 season Saturday night against Arizona Mesa at Aztec Bowl.

Kickoff is 8 p.m.

The Griffs, under head coach Dave Jordan, have the longest unbeaten streak among junior colleges with 17 without a loss. They also won the state championship and the Mission Conference.

This year the Griffs move into the stratosphere of the South Coast Conference joining Mt. San Antonio, Cerritos, Santa Ana and Mesa.

For Grossmont, Don Kramer, a returnee and Kerry Schimf will be on the wings with second year man Dale Waasted at tight end.

'Doe Doe,' 'Dimples' Praise Life of Clown

"Jesters do often prove prophets," says Shakespeare in the classic tragedy "King Lear."

Two local jesters are quick to extol the virtues of their new-found wisdom in the much-in-demand art of jesting.

Mrs. Patricia Kaufman

Specifically, they are Mrs. Jo Von Willer of 538 Osage st., Spring Valley and Mrs. Patricia Kaufman, 1902 Ensenada, Lemon Grove — graduates of the San Diego State Extension course in Clownology taught by Rich "Curly" Wise.

Starts With Boa

Patricia Kaufman's inspiration for clowning started about four years ago in San Diego's first and last "world's worst parade." She joined with a group of girls in the "Village Singers," a local singing group appearing in the parade on a flat-bed truck. Mrs. Kaufman's burlap sack costume, buck teeth and freckles won her a position on the street behind the truck greeting people.

Her clown costume is an extension of the potato sack motif, this time applied to a beguiling female character named "Diamond Dimples," a nearly perfect crossbreed of Bozo the clown and Phylis Diller.

The look, she said, was built around a feather boa, something for which she has always had a craving.

She went the economy route on her costume, scrounging in thrift stores for material and props.

Finding the boa was itself a chore. After a long search, a La Jolla clothing store offered to sell her a black and white checkered wrap for $80. She respectfully declined the offer and searched on.

She finally found what she was looking for in her own home town. The proprietor of the Purple Turtle sold her a second hand boa for $2.

She dug up her wig in a Salvation Army store and died it bright red. Fancy fringe and sequins dressed up the grain sack which she discovered fit more snuggly with an abundance of chest padding.

Capped off with a sexy blue bonnet, red ping pong nose and an extra-long cigarette holder, the outfit makes Mrs. Kaufman the undisputed comedy vamp of Ensenada street.

Her three children — Chris, Leslee and Brad, enjoy seeing mom in clown's grab,

Mrs. Jo Von Willer

but only daughter Leslee has ever dipped into the clown colors.

Husband Lee reacted like any husband would when his wife told him of her plans to become a clown: "You gotta be kidding!" He has since recovered from the initial shock to the point where he joined his wife "Dimples" at an end-of-class clown party.

'Doe Doe'

Mrs. Von Willer became enthralled with clowning when, after several public appearances, she found that she could love anybody, any age, any color without the usual hang-ups that too often accompany human contact.

It's hard to describe the feeling a clown gets when he entertains or shows someone that somebody cares.

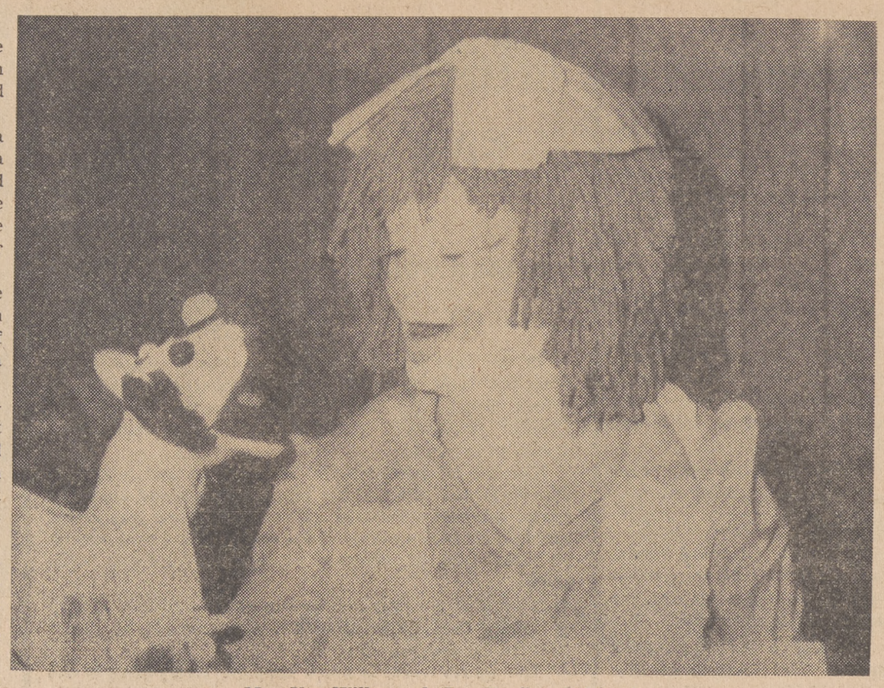

In the Lemon Grove Old Times Days parade this year, Mrs. Von Willer, dressed as "Doe Doe," approached an elderly lady while marching down Broadway with other Clown Club members, smiled and said, "Hi, how are you?"

The startled woman asked, "Do I know you?"

"Doe Doe" expained that she was a stranger but just wanted to say hello and ask if she was enjoying the parade.

"Well, God bless you," the woman told her.

Mrs. Von Willer invested a good amount in her costume. Materials ran $65. But she thinks it was worth every penny.

Second Look

"Clowning has given me a second look at mankind that just isn't possible without the make-up," she said.

During a Columbus Day parade last year she stopped to cheer a small child who she quickly learned was mentally retarded. The short conversation with the girl, whose speech was badly impaired, was just a brief moment along the parade route, but it was one that stuck with Mrs. Von Willer.

'Her father, standing next to her solemnly said 'Thank you, you don't know what joy you've brought to her.' "

Doe Doe has made several appearances since graduating from the class during its first semester. She has a scrapbook crammed with photos and newspaper clippings of her appearances and clown club activities. Her face has appeared in the San Diego dailies and the Los Angeles Times.

Exacting Man

Great praise goes to her mentor, Rich Wise who, she says, often doesn't get enough credit for the work he does. She describes his San Diego State Extension course as a thorough study of the art and calls "Curly" an "exacting man who knows his business."

To further her background, she traveled to Denver earlier this year with Curly and other San Diego clowns to attend a national clown convention. At the sessions she met some of the country's greatest clowns and received expert advice about her costume and entertainment techniques. 300 clowns attended the convention.

"Doe Doe" is now a strong advocate of the art of clowning. She, as well as Mrs. Kaufman, plans to continue to develop her clowning repertoire and continue to promote what clowns have been created for, for hundreds of years: laughter and smiles.

"You can give so much more than what you're allowed by society when you put on a clown's face," she explained.

Clowns Proliferate

More and more clowns are emerging in the area. Inspired by a visit last spring by "Curly" himself, clownology graduate Sharon Knight, teaching aide at La Presa Junior High, started a clown club for students there.

Clara Folk, another Lemon Grove resident, is also a graduate of the Clownology class.

Red Cross Plans Mass Para-Med Training

The county Red Cross plans to open a new Cardio-pulmonary Resuscitation Training program soon aimed at training 40,000 county residents to handle CPR emergency victims.

Previous training has been offered to rescue squads and medical personnel but this federally funded program is a first for the general public.

Housing construction industry leaders have warned of an impending housing shortage in the San Diego area soon.

They say dwindling residential sales inventories and declining vacancy ratios indicate the time is not far away when the shortage will be severly felt here.

A combination of circumstances is responsible for the shortage threat reflected in the "alarming drop" in housing starts the last three years.

Accelerated values induced by inflation have priced a high percentage of average-income families out of the new housing market. High financing costs, environmental and managed growth restraints causing expensive delays have made it more difficult — and in some cases impossible — for developers to start new projects that are economically feasible.

"San Diego was blessed with a housing surplus three years ago or else we would have been in dire circumstances long before now," said Robert Audia, president of the S.D. Building Contractors Assn. "All present signs point to an acute housing shortage."

Residential building has been dropping 40 and 50 per cent annually in the city for the past three years.

Dwelling units authorized by the city in 1973 was 53 per cent below 1972 and the 1974 rate slipped 43 per cent. During the first half of 1975 the drop was 49 per cent,Audia said.

Good Vibes Boost Tomato Plant Crop, Study Shows

Have you clipped the terminal tips and shaken the flowering fruit clusters on your garden tomatoes letely?

The regular practice of hothouse tomato growers has been applied successfully to outdoor plants in dry climates like the San Diego area. So reports University of California Extension farm advisor Barnarr Hall.

Eight years of tests have proven that regular terminal pruning and a couple of weekly zaps with an electric vibrator can increase tomato crop yields by 3 to 5 tons per acre.

The good vibrations, applied in a fraction of a second to the base of each flower cluster, move the pollen from the flowers causing increases in fertilization of the plants.

The vibration technique increases the number of fruit set as well as the size of the fruit, Hall said.

Vibrators, specially made for the plants sell from $30-$50 according to Hall, but he suggests small farmers and home gardeners can cut costs by making their own device.

Vibrations should be applied every two or three days, Hall said, during periods of low humidity.

Costs Taxpayers

Bilingual Requirements Raise Assessor's Costs

The growing trend of printing various government forms in languages other than English raised questions regarding the necessity of it and about the costs involved for the taxpayer.

In California this years legislation sponsored by Senator Dennis Carpenter was adopted that required 29 counties to add a Spanish translation to both the Homeowners' Exemption and Termination/Correction notices.

In all these counties this requirement resulted in the County Assessor's office having to print and mail two forms, worded identically—one in English, one in Spanish. San Diego County was one of those required to follow this procedure.

A survey by the California Assessor's Assn. to determine the merits and costs of this system has been completed and shows excessive cost of printing the additional forms, without including the obvious increased operational costs to the Assessor's office in changing from one system to another. The survey also indicates a marked lack of participation by the Spanish surnamed residents within the 29 counties working under this mandated program.

Half of One Percent

Twenty-four of the twenty-nine counties responded to the survey questionnaire with the following results: 650,452 Homeowners' Exemption claim forms were mailed with a return of 388,264, or approximately 60% Of those returned only 1,689 were signed on the Spanish form.

This represents .435 of 1%.

2,525,289 Termination / Correction notices were sent out, and 110,412 returned. In this case, only 437 of these notices were signed on the Spanish form, indicating a use of only .395 of 1%.

The costs of mailing these forms in 1974-75, without the Spanish translation, was $61,981. The costs to the taxpayer for mailing the 1975-76 forms amounted to $136,138, an increase of 120%.

These figures reflect only the costs of printing the forms, not the additional expenses of computer use, sorting and clerically related processing times.

Negative Response

The questionnaire also asked the Assessors' opinions as to the effectiveness with which the Spanish translated forms actually served their purpose. The overwhelming response was that they had not, with 21 of the 24 Assessors answering in the negative.

In Imperial County, where there is a high percentage of Spanish-speaking people, some problems were experienced even with the forms printed in Spanish, in that some property owners were unable to read Spanish or unable to understand what the exemption was.

In Riverside County, where 17% of the population is reportedly Spanish - speaking, there were the same problems as well as the fact that most persons who speak only Spanish are not homeowners.

In San Diego, County Assessor E. C. Williams reports that his office received a total of only 6 claims and termination notices on the Spanish translation forms out of the 300,000 forms mailed. The additional costs, just to print the claims containing the Spanish information, was approximately $5,000.

Cost Not Warranted

Williams said the public would best be served by printing the instructions on these forms in simple, concise English. "The few Spanish-speaking people who can not read or understand the forms can receive necessary instructions from members of my staff who are paid extra for their bilingual abilities. Our experience, and that of other counties, indicates that the cost of this program to the taxpayer is not warranted."

Any taxpayer who feels this cost should be eliminated should so communicate with their legislative representatives.

Directory Ready For Area Seniors

Copies of Central Federal Savings and Loan Assn.'s 1975 "Senior Citizens Directory" are now available in the firm's College Grove office.

The all-new, enlarged edition features a separate, easy-to-read east county section listing local retirement-age clubs and drop-in centers geared for a wide variety of interests," CFS's manager Sally DeLong said.

"First published as a public service in 1972," Mrs. DeLong said, "the directory has become accepted by the local senior community, libraries and public agencies as a comprehensive reference for those seeking an active retirement."

In addition to information on area health facilities and transportation, the compendium provides details on voter registration, senior publications and pet facilities.

The current, expanded book has a "new look" — a four-color floral cover and color-coded major categories to provide for ease in quick reference. There is a separate section for Lemon Grove retirement life opportunities.

Available by request on a first-come, first-served basis, the "Senior Citizens Directory" was compiled with the assistance of CFS's senior representative Joseph Lagnese, and retirement organizations throughout the county.

Central Federal's 14 offices in the county make it the largest federally-insured savings and loan exclusively serving San Diego.

Would Return Utility Overcharge to Seniors

Assemblyman Bob Wilson, of La Mesa, said this week that the San Diego Gas and Electric Co. had overbilled its customers $16.5 million in fuel costs offset-increases in 1974.

He said a report from the Auditor General's office showed that SDG&E was one of three California utility companies which overcharged customers a total of $270 million in 1973-1974.

Wilson said he would introduce legislation recommended by the auditors to require utilities to maintain reserve accounts for monies collected in the manner in the future.

He said the change would assure that charges collected for increases in fuel costs would be used only for the purposes authorized by PUC.

It will also prevent money accumulated in reserve accounts from being treated as earned income.

He is also proposing legislation by which senior citizens may apply to PUC for utility rate reductions until the reserve funds are depleted.

"If PUC can design special procedures which enable giant utility companies to obtain hundred million dollar rate increases without public hearings, then the legislature can order special procedures which return the resulting excess profits to senior citizens who so desperately deserve the assistance," Wilson said.

Takes Some, Leaves Some

When burglars entered the residence of Robert C. Hurt on September 3 they were only interested in cash and some inexpensive jewelry.

Hurt, who lives at 2553 Central ave., Spring Valley, told sheriff's deputies that $25 in cash and some men's jewelry was taken but several pieces of expensive jewelry, some with diamonds, were left.

The loss occurred while he was away.

Gov't Wants You to Know Facts of Life

"There are a lot of little-known facts of life that could make your life a little more livable."

So begins the advertising pitch for the fall edition of the free Federal "Consumer Information Index," a booklet listing over 250 government booklets, brochures and publications filled with useful facts on a wide variety of subjects.

Most of the publications are free while some of the weightier volumes can be had for nominal fees.

Among the more popular are booklets on getting your grocery money's worth, removing stains, simple home repairs, record keeping, and wise home buying.

To receive the free catalog of listings, write to: Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

TV and Silver Taken

A television set worth $400 and numerous pieces of sterling silverware were stolen from the Spring Valley home of Flora Loretta Sevick of 3219 San Carlos st.

The loss occurred September 3 while she was away, she told sheriff's deputies.

Driving Safety Taught At VFW Post Tonight

Encanto Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Auxiliary 6874 sponsors a "Drive to Survive" program tonight, 7:30 p.m. at the Post Hall on 5860 Market st., San Diego.

On the program is a national V.F.W. safe or defensive driving course consisting of a movie and narration by George Bellon, past first district V.F.W. commander.

The public is invited.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

August 26, 1975

Dear Editor:

I have been passed along a copy of your article called "The Dimmer View" by Max Goodwin and also entitled "The Insurance Rip Off". I believe the date of this article was August 7. I have read this with great delight as I see it as another aid in our fight against the malpractice problem. I believe most of your points are very well taken and your support of CMA's position in this difficult time is greatly appreciated.

We have tried almost desperately here in the County to get the message across that the public is going to be seriously harmed by this, and while the medical profession is leading the way it is not ultimately our responsibility to solve the problem, but lies in the hands of the legislature and the governor.

We cannot work without insurance and be expected to be in a position of going bankrupt and we cannot pay such high fees for insurance premiums that we have to pass on unconscionable charges to the patient.

It therefore seems that the legislature must put certain lids on the totally out of control present tort system.

Editorials, such as yours, I do believe help.

We need, especially now, letters and phone calls to the Assembly side because we expect to get a fairly good bill out of the Senate, but we are worried about what happens to this bill as it returns to the Assembly side.

I believe, without being certain, that Mr. Robert Wilson is the Assemblyman for your district and he is on the powerful Judiciary Committee of the Assembly which can again decimate the bill which we think is on the way to being a successful one on the Senate side.

Again, let me thank you for your assistance in trying to solve this problem. I am sending a copy of this letter to the Lemon Grove Medical Group who I am sure can assist you with any further information that you might need.

Yours very truly
J. W. Johnson, M.D.
President

Medical Society

Animal Shelter Activity Grows

Most all services available at the three County Animal Shelters increased in August.

Up the greatest amount were citations written — July 26 to August 22 — 295, up 40 per cent.

Other services and the percentage of change:

Quarantine bites reported — 644, up 26%

Injured, brought in — 311, up 14%

Destroyed — 2585, up 4%

To medical research — 99, up 6%

Strays impounded — 2312, up 5%

Total impounded — 3514, up 2%

Adopted — 161, no change

Relinquished by owner — 1202, down 3%

Redeemed — 669, down 5%

The nearest shelter to this area is in Spring Valley, at 8661 Jamacha blvd.

Near the first of next year the County will open a new, model shelter on Sweetwater rd. near the Spring Valley Swap Meet. The Jamacha blvd. facility will be closed at that time, County officials said.

Round Dance Classes To be Slow and Easy

Round dance classes for beginners, designed especially for senior citizens, begin today, 12:30-2:30 p.m., at the Girls' Cottage Recreation Bldg. in MacArthur Park, La Mesa.

Registration is open for three weeks.

The classes, taught by staff round dance teachers Pat and Louise Kimbley, will be conducted at a slow and easy pace.

They are sponsored by the La Mesa Recreation department.

20 Years Ago

Local Change Noted In Look at the Past

It's no secret that an age of nostalgia is upon us, fed as much by the coming bi-centennial as by people's yearning for happier, simpler times.

Much media delving has focused on the innocent, fifties, as evidenced by recent motion pictures life "American Graffiti" and "The Last Motion Picture Show." Then there are all those old TV reruns from television's pioneer days that are currents making the rounds.

This week, this newspaper joins the nationwide trend with a brief rehashing of local events as they occurred twenty years ago, reported in this newspaper.

Twenty years ago today, the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce announced plans to build a parking area on the stretch of land surrounding Arizona Eastern Railway tracks in the heart of town.

An "astounding coincidence" happened when a customer walked into Lemon Grove Camera wearing "unusual hot weather garb." The concidence was that store owner Bob Vaught was wearing an identical pair of Bermuda shorts and matching high top Bermuda socks.

Lemon Grove school officials were breathing easy and assuring parents that the school system would not have to go on double sessions and that schools were fully staffed and prepared for a record 3,000 students. Less fortunate were other local districts suffering from a critical teacher shortage.

Concerned citizens gathered 600 names petitioning that the La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Irrigation District shorten its "clumsy and entirely too long" name to Helix Irrigation District.

In Spring Valley, no less than 500 residents turned out for a mass Chamber of Commerce meeting to find out about the provisions of the proposed sewer installation project. A $735,000 bond issue deciding the fate of the project faced the voters in coming weeks.

Classes Start For Diabetics

New fall classes for diabetics of all ages will commence shortly at San Diego hospitals.

Adult diabetics will meet Monday at Community Hospital of Southeast San Diego. The class lasts through Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Children's Hospital offers classes for children and their parents beginning September 29 for one week.

Adolescent classes are conducted at Children's Hospital October 7, 8, 14 and 15.

All sessions convene from 7 to 9 p.m.

The classes, sponsored by the American Diabetes Association of San Diego, are conducted by doctors, nurses, dieticians and social workers.

Diabetics interested in the classes should contact Joyce Silva at Community Hospital, 234-4341, ext. 216, or Priscilla Pasano of Children's Hospital, 277-5808, Ext. 266.

Tax Deadline Eased For Homeowners

Failure by a new owner of residential property to file by the April 15 deadline for homeowners' property tax exemption may no longer prevent the homeowner from receiving at least a partial allowance, John W. Lynch, Chairman, State Board of Equalization said this week.

The law now stipulates that if a new homeowner, occupying a dwelling as his principal residence on March 1 does not receive his exemption claim form in the mail from the county assessor's office, he may file late and receive 80 percent of the homeowners' property tax exemption.

Lynch said that a late filing caused by the assessor's failure to mail the form may be accepted up to December 1 of the calendar year in which the claimant missed filing for the claimant to receive 100 percent of the exemption. By then, even if the homeowner has not received a claim form, he will have his annual property tax bill or a copy, which serves to notify him that he is eligible for the homeowner exemption.

In the past, the responsibility for filing the exemption claim on time has been entirely the homeowner's. The revised law now provides that certain errors in the assessor's office or by the automated data-processing center which prevent the forms from reaching homeowners in time will relieve the taxpayer of that responsibility.

Former White House Speechwriter to Sum Up Nixon Folly

"Richard Nixton — What Happened?" is the title of a talk to be presented September 25 at the University of San Diego by Dr. John McLaughlin.

Dr. McLaughlin, former White House speechwriter and defender of Nixon, is now writing and lecturing on human power and its problems.

The lecture is presented by the university's Associated Students Speakers Bureau.

Handgun Ban Aids Criminals Says Lawmaker

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Tom Suitt said recently he strongly opposes legislation (AB 2426) which would ban the possession of handguns by law-abiding citizens.

"Rather than banning handguns from public ownership, California should stringently enforce gun control laws already in effect and guarantee to every criminal using a handgun in the commission of a crime that such action will in itself constitute a felony. With police protection already spread so thin, there is no way that I would deny a law-abiding citizen the right to protect his family and himself," Suitt said.

The measure, if enacted into law, would require every citizen who owns a handgun to dispose of their handgun at the nearest law enforcement agency. Citizens complying would be compensated with the present fair market value of the handgun at that time. After six months, any person found in possession of a handgun would be guilty of a felony.

Specials

"I am in support, however, of the President's position of outlawing the so-called "Saturday night special" which is so easily accessible to the criminal on our city streets," he said.

"In areas such as New York where strict gun control laws have been enacted, crime has continued to rise, dismissing the theory that so-called tough gun control laws result in lower crime rates," Suitt concluded.

Enjoy PacTel Bills More But It Won't Cost Less

An improved billing service, designed to offer customers more information in a format that's easier to read, will be put into use by Pacific Telephone for the first time in San Diego County next month.

The new bills, called Free Form Bills, are scheduled to begin to arrive in homes and businesses around the middle of September, according to William Quirk, vice president for PacTel.

The new bill not only is easier for customers to understand but also saves money for the company in that it cuts production and mailing time.

Features

Features of the new bill are:

A simplified bill face that lists only individual charges by category (monthly service, long distance, etc.). It will show charges, previous and current, plus payments and adjustments applied to the previous bill. Any unpaid balance is identified as past due, and current charges are subtotaled with a "due by" date.

Long distance and multi-message unit call are listed with the duration of each call in minutes. Long distance calls also are identified as to the type of call such as DD, Dial Day; DE, Dial Evening, etc. The bill for measured service customers will show the number of local message units over the allowance and the price per message unit.

Installation, equipment and monthly charges on bills will be detailed on a separate page.

The customer's initial bill will contain descriptive phrases designed to acquaint the subscriber with billing procedure. This will appear on the "Other Charges and Credits" portion of the bill.

Quirk said the Free Form Bill is the result of an American Telephone study to develop a telephone bill format that could be generally adopted for nationwide use.

First introduced in California in June, the Free Form Bill is now in use throughout most of the state.

Sea World Holiday Crowds Set Record

Sea World set a record attendance Labor Day weekend when 41,359 people visited the marine park, a 19.2 per cent increase over last year's three-day holiday.

A single-day attendance record was set Sunday, August 31, when 23,314 people visited Sea World. The previous one-day record was 19,783 set the Sunday before Labor Day, 1974.

Attendance for August, 1975 was 432,572 people, a 21 per cent increase over August 1974.

The high Labor Day turnout was attributed to the great white shark exhibit and a weekend appearance of Buck Owens and his country music band.

Oil Plentiful in U.S. The Problem: Getting It!

WASHINGTON — In the face of today's petroleum shortage, it sounds paradoxical to say that the U. S. has plenty of oil. Yet it is true.

According to the magazine PETROLEUM TODAY, an estimated 300 billion barrels of oil remains in the ground throughout the United States — fully two-thirds of the oil that already has been discovered, but not recoverable for technical or economic reasons. If we could get it out of the ground there would be enough oil, without foreign imports, to last the country another 48 years at the current rate of consumption.

In the Big Muddy field in Wyoming, for example, only one-third of the original 80 million barrels of oil in place has been produced in the 75 years since the field was discovered. And production has slowed to only 20 barrels a day.

10 Per Cent Used

In Cat Canyon, California, production is down to a comparative trickle with only 10 per cent of the original 300 million barrels produced.

Currently, industry scientists are looking for new ways to extract this oil. At Big Muddy, they hope to increase production from 20 to 200 barrels a day by pumping detergent into the ground to wash out much of the remaining oil.

At Cat Canyon, because the oil there is too thick to be affected by detergent, engineers will set underground rock on fire, hoping the smoldering heat will thin out the oil enough to drive it upwards through the well.

Each field poses its own problems. In general, oil and gas occur together, often with water below the petroleum. When a well is drilled, the natural gas often has enough pressure to drive the oil toward the well. Or the water may drive the oil forward. Once the gas or water drive is exhausted, production from the well drops sharply.

Waterflooding Leaves Oil

Waterflooding is used in about 90 per cent of the oil fields in the U. S. for secondary recovery because it is fairly inexpensive and simple to use. However, waterflooding is not entirely satisfactory since it leaves much of the oil still in the ground, so industry now is experimenting with enhanced recovery.

One of these methods is thermal recovery, wherein a fireflood pushes hot gases ahead of it, causing heavy oil to flow more easily. Another method is carbon dioxide flooding. The Carbon dioxide gas is forced into the reservoir where it dissolves into the oil, forcing it through the well.

Another promising method is micellar-polymer flooding. A detergent (micellar fluid) is pumped into an injection well. It sweeps through the reservoir, cleaning oil from the rock grains. Then a second substance — a thickened water, gel, or polymer — is injected to move the detergent and oil forward.

Detergents Costly

Theoretically, the magazine notes, 85 to 95 per cent of the oil in a reservoir could be recovered by the use of detergents, and much of today's research is aimed at developing this method. But it's expensive. While crude oil is currently worth about three cents a pound, detergents may cost anywhere from 27 cents to $2 a pound.

The industry, primarily major oil companies, has been researching ways to get more oil out of known fields for more than half a century. The lead time for such development is long. New techniques must be developed and tested, the economic climate must be favorable. At the earliest, oil from the new enhanced recovery projects will reach the consumer about five years from now.

But the U. S. still has enormous petroleum resources, and some day these resources may once again give us the energy independence we once enjoyed.

BoA Paints Rosier Housing Picture

Housing starts in California showed a moderate gain during July, according to Bank of America.

Starts were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 143,000 units, compared to 132,000 units in June and 134,000 in July a year ago. Bank economists noted it was the first time in 1975 the rate of new housing starts in the state was above year-ago levels.

During the first seven months of 1975, actual housing starts in California were 25 per cent below the total for the same period of 1974.

BoA economists expect continued moderate gains in residential construction activity in the state for thet next several months.

University Burn Center Adds Beds

The Regional Burn Center at University Hospital is in the process of expanding from a six to 14 bed capacity. Plans also call for a skin bank and a clinical support lab to be added to the Center. The skin bank is for burn victims requiring skin transplants, and the clinical support lab will assist in early detection of infection. Tissue infection after severe burn damage is a serious complication affecting burn victims.

The County's Office of Emergency Medical Services played an active role in the establishment of the Burn Center two years ago. The County channeled federal funds to the Center to train nurses in critical burn care and provide prevention education through the Institute for Burn Medicine.

The current federal grant to the County, which is administered by Emergency Medical Services, is providing continuing prevention education to San Diego County residents.

Tree Trimming Racket Headed Toward E. County is Warning

Local residents may get more than just a tree-trimming!

Bob Torbett of the sheriff's fraud unit said last week that a group is moving south from Los Angeles — sometimes under the name of R&H Tree Trimming Service — offering to trim the victim's trees for $29.95.

That's a bargain! It's hard to refuse an offer like that.

It is especially attractive for elderly widows for whom a tree trimming chore would be impossible. But they usually end up getting trimmed as well as the trees.

Torbett said the rip-off works like this:

A representative comes to the door and says: "We can trim your trees for $29.95." (Remember that figure. Police intelligence reports that is the figure they always use.) A contract is handed to the victim and it reads just like that. "Trim trees — $29.95."

Bill Increases

Then a crew moves in and trims the trees but the bill is $300 to $500. What the victim didn't observe is that the suspect has penned in the words "per tree" or "per limb".

When the victim refuses to pay the crew sits on the victim's lawn, passively. "They are aware of their limitations said Torbett," but it's a terrific threat by inuendo."

Some victims get so upset that they pay the bill and keep quiet about it.

Torbett said his unit wants to hear from anyone who has been victimized. More importantly, he wants to hear from anyone who has been approached by the suspects.

236-2951

His warning: Don't sign anything. Ask them to come back the next day — but call the sheriff's fraud unit as soon as possible. The number is 236-2951.

"It's fall and that's when trees are normally trimmed here," Torbett said. "But after the resident signs the contract it is harder to protect the victim.

But contract or not, call fraud in case you are being victimized."

Another racket, usually worked on younger people is the "Las Vegas Good Times— all expenses paid" offer being made by Columbia Research Corp. out of Chicago, Torbett said.

Victims are asked to send $14.95 for the Las Vegas vouchers. When the vouchers fail to arrive and the victim writes or calls, the operators claim there has been a mixup, Torbett said. But the vouchers never come. The attorney general's office in San Francisco is working on that operation, Torbett concluded.

If You Believe You've Been Cheated

A series of consumer protection advisories have been prepared by the California Trial Lawyers Association to warn consumers of some of the hazards of signing a contract. The following article is one of several that will be published in this column for several weeks.

Consumers are urged to write CTLA for their Consumer Protection Pamphlet which tells "How Not to Be Cheated and Who to Contact If You Are."

The address is at the end of this week's Column.

Lemon Law—Part 2

Where botn your personal negotiations with the seller and the efforts of the Department of Consumer Affairs (discussed in last installment) fail to secure a reasonble result if you have purchased a "Lemon" — that is, a product that later proves to be defective — then carefully consider your next step.

Small Claims Court

If your complaint involves damages of less than $500, consider filing a complaint in Small Claims Court. This can be done for less than $10.

Attorneys are not permitted to represent anyone in a Small Claims Court action, so both you and the seller get to present your sides of the story personally and informally to the judge. The seller must appear to answer or lose by default.

If you repair the defect before the hearing be sure to bring receipts to prove your damages, or bring two or three written estimates to prove your damages if the item has not yet been repaired.

If your claim is for more than $500, consult an attorney as soon as possible. Often, local consumer groups or the County Bar Association can help you find one.

Remember that many claims are barred by the lapse of time, varying with the type of claim from as little as 30 days to as much as 10 years. An early call or visit to an attorney is the best way to learn the time available on a particular claim, and such advice generally will cost little.

Alcoholism Group Offers Catalogue

A complete catalogue of all the materials available at the new Community Learning Resources Center of San Diego's National Council on Alcoholism, 1371 Sixth st. at Ash, has just been placed in the hands of 2,000 potential users of this new tool in the local campaign against alcoholism and alcohol abuse.

"The distribution of the 42-page catalogue which lists, and in many cases summarizes or evaluates more than 500 books, journals, films and film strips, is intended to insure that doctors, phychologists, counselors, educators, students, community agencies, media and others know what we have here," Nan B. Nobilette, organizer of the library said.

"Equally important," said NCA executive director Sandra Andrews, "is that these community leaders should know that we and the County Department of Substance Abuse, which funded this project, want to see the Center used extensively.

"We will loan material to any responsible person. "Walk-in" inquiries are welcome during regular business hours, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

When films, film strips or tapes are borrowed by community groups, we have the equipment needed to present them. We will lend this too, and if you need it, we will give you instruction in how to use it."

Catalogues are available at 234-8494.

Rental Firm Loses Equipment

Early last month a San Diego resident drove into Jim's U-rent at 8121 Broadway in a late model Cadillac and rented several pieces of lawn cutting equipment.

This week Bob Serr, the operator of the firm, reported to sheriff's deputies that the equipment had not been returned.

He gave deputies the name, address, telephone number as well as the auto license number of the person who rented the equipment.

The total bill, equipment and rent amounts to $810.

Sheriff Nabs Alleged Bookie

San Diego Police and Sheriff's Deputies arrested a prominent bookmaker at the Del Mar racetrack Spetember 4 as part of a continuing investigation into illegal betting activities.

Booked in county jail is 58-year-old Anthony (Big Tony) Balsamo, 1490 Green Bay dr., Imperial Beach. Investigators said Balsamo had been taking bets in various locations around the county as well as in the grandstands, Club House and Turf Club at Del Mar.

Sgt. Fred Cleveland of the Sheriff's Office of Special Investigations, said when similar arrests were made during last year's racing season, bets at the Del Mar windows increased over $65,000 a day.

Cleveland said the state gets about 8% of the gross bets at the track as taxes.

"When bookies cheat the government out of these taxes, and when the ilegal bettor cheats the government out of income taxes on his winnings, then it is no longer a so-called 'victimless' crime. You and I are the victims by having to make up for these losses in revenue by paying higher taxes," he said.

Doctor Urges Full Eye Exam For New Pupils

As many as eight million elementary and secondary school children may return to school this fall with undetected vision problems which can seriously limit their reading development.

The warning came from Dr. Robert Wold, of Chula Vista president of the San Diego County Optometric Society.

"Most children with visiual handicaps do not know that they are seeing improperly because they assume that everyone sees that way," Dr. Wold said. "Parents often place too great a reliance on chart tests which test for distance vision only."

Dr. Wold recommends that every child should have a complete, professional vision examination before entering kindergarten, and receive annual checkups to provide maximum preventive care and early correction.

In Lemon Grove, a Lion's Club sponsored vision program screens new kindergarten and first graders in the Lemon Grove School District. The program is financed by the annual fund-raising drive White Cane Days in the fall.

Trail Ride to Fill Heart Fund Coffer

Six county competitive trail riders are sponsoring a benefit horse ride for the Heart Association, September 19-21. The ride is the first West Coast North American Trail Ride Conference approved ride to be conducted as a local philanthropic event.

Chuck Lyons, owner of Sunrise Stables in the Laguna Mountains, has donated his stable area for ride headquarters. About 30 miles will be covered on the first day, 20 on the second.

Entry fee is $25, proceeds going to Heart Fund. It's tax deductible.

Ken Truesdell of Spring Valley shares co-manager duties with Lakeside's Paul Stahl.

Southwestern React, a group of citizen band radio operators, will provide communications along the ride.

Riders should secure an entry form by contacting Bonnie Scott in Lakeside, 561-2729.
